520 8_ |a (Critical) Interviewed by his son, Dr. Jonathan E. Rhoads, Jr., this program presents an interview with Dr. Jonathan E. Rhoads, one of American's most prominent teachers of surgery, and his reminiscences over his professional years as well as his many accomplishments. Born in the Germantown section of Philadelphia in 1907, Jonathan, the son of a Quaker physician, was educated there before entering Haverford College.
Pursuing his medical career, he attended Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine. A distinguished physician, he became Provost Emeritus of the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine and was a pioneer in the development of total intravenous feeding/nutrition. He was the recipient of many prestigious awards including the National Cancer Institute Medal and the Medallion of the Surgeon General. An endowed professorship in surgical sciences was started in his name at the University of Pennsylvania Hospital on his 71st birthday. Dr. Rhoad's sense of humor comes through very well and provides for an interesting and relaxing hour of viewing. It is highly recommended for students of surgery.

aging and mind. It also explores the diseases of aging including: stroke, Alzheimer's and Parkinson's disease, pointing out that these diseases are quite distinct from normal aging.
Viewers watch experiments that prove that even in old age, new brain connections can be formed. Finally, the program focuses on the phenomenon most commonly associated with older minds: the wisdom of the aged.
